Sees Solution to Problems

Agricultural Boast By Soviet Leader

ODENSE, Denmark (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev vowed today that the Soviet Union's agricultural difficulties will be solved in seven or eight years or "I'll say I am not a Communist and I will tear up my party card."

The Soviet leader, after a tour of prosperous Danish farms, swore that the Soviet Union would not be dependent for grain on capitalist nations in lean years.

Khrushchev told an audience at the nearby Dalum Agriculture College that the Soviet Union has little to learn from Danish agriculture because the Danes' farming is on too small a scale.

He advised Danish Premier Jens Otto Krag, seated next to him, not to depend on the Soviet Union as a future customer for Danish food products.

He advised Krag instead to seek closer trade ties with Communist East Germany, which Denmark does not recognize, and Communist Czechoslovakia.

Khrushchev donned a white straw hat for a tour of three farms in Denmark's richest agricultural area. He at times tried to shoo away accompanying reporters and photographers, complaining that they were blocking his view.

School Funds Deadline To Virginia

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A federal court has given the Prince Edward County Board of Supervisors one week to appropriate funds to reopen and operate public schools.

U.S. Dist. Judge Oren R. Lewis Wednesday night ordered the supervisors to levy taxes and raise funds to open the schools, closed in 1959 to avoid racial desegregation.

Judge Lewis told the board to act by June 25, one month to the day after the U.S. Supreme Court ordered Prince Edward to reopen the schools.

During an hour-long hearing Wednesday, Judge Lewis offered the supervisors the initiative in reopening the schools. They did not take it. His tough order followed.

Judge Lewis declined to spell out exactly how much money the board should appropriate, as sought by Negro attorneys. He told the supervisors they must operate schools substantially equal to those in other rural counties.

The court continued its injunction against the payment of tuition grants for private education in the county as long as the public schools remain closed.

Lewis turned down a request by the Negro attorneys that he order the county to hire a public school faculty and school employees on a nondiscriminatory basis. He said the Supreme Court had not required it.

He said, however, the schools must be operated on a nondiscriminatory basis for the pupils.

Convention Opens Here On Friday

Retarded Children Association's 10th Annual Gathering

Missourians concerned about the 133,000 mentally retarded of this State will meet at Holiday Inn, Friday in the Tenth Annual Convention of the Missouri Association for Retarded Children. The Convention will open with film showings and discussion at 8 p.m.

The Convention keynote address, on "New Work Horizons for the Mentally Retarded," will be delivered by Dwight Boe of the National Association for Retarded Children. Boe is with the National Association's Vocational Services staff, in a section dealing with administration of a vocational services contract between the Association and the United States Department of Labor.

Russell Armentrout, Louisiana (Mo.), President of the Missouri Association for Retarded Children has announced two presentations concerning proposed 1965 legislation for new mental retardation services to be made on Saturday morning.

Frank Ackerman, member of the Missouri Co-ordinating Commission for the Handicapped, will report on proposed legislation regarding vocational services. George Ulett, M.D., Director of the Missouri Division of Mental Diseases, will describe plans for legislation regarding care and treatment facilities.

Rights Ballot Is Near

Amendments Cleared Up; 'Vote Friday'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate's long civil rights debate was in its dying hours today with a vote on final passage in prospect tonight or Friday.

As the Senate convened, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said it appeared likely the final vote would come Friday although he was hopeful that it might be tonight.

It was learned that some senators were absent today and that this was the chief problem in trying to arrange a vote tonight.

However, several senators were hoping that, if the final roll call is Friday, it could come at an early hour. They plan to fly to Mexico City in the afternoon for dedication Saturday of a new embassy in the Mexican capital.

Passage of the bill by a wide margin was foreshadowed Wednesday night — in the 81st day of the long struggle—when the senators substituted, by a 76-18 vote, the package drafted by leaders of both parties for the bill which passed the House on Feb. 10.

The substitute retains the basic antidiscrimination features of the original measure. It puts more emphasis on voluntary compliance and gives states with their own laws an opportunity to handle complaints before federal action is taken.

If the Senate approves the measure this week as expected, House leaders hope to have it on President Johnson's desk before adjourning July 2 in advance of the Republican National Convention.

The current House planning is to accept the Senate bill without change. Among those who have said there is a good chance the House will accept the Senate version is Rep. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, who has been called the chief architect of the bill in the House.

Four-car Collision Fatal to 12-year-old

ST. LOUIS (AP)—An accident involving four cars killed a 12-year-old boy and seriously injured his father and another man Wednesday in North St. Louis County.

Killed was Bryan Kim of suburban Hazelwood. He was a passenger in a car driven by his father, J. Kim, 46, who was taken to county hospital and transferred to DePaul Hospital.

Police said a car driven by William Stack, 29, of suburban Florissant skidded on wet pavement and collided with the Kim auto. Two other cars struck the wreckage. Stack was in county hospital.

Ruling Broadens To Cities

Wholesale Changes Seen By Expert On Constitution

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jubilant over their big victory in the Supreme Court, advocates of the "one man, one vote" theory of government broadened their horizons today.

Their next target: such local government organizations as city councils, county boards of supervisors and even such units as water districts.

The Supreme Court, in a decision spelling great changes in the American governmental structure, ruled Monday that both branches of state legislatures must be apportioned according to population.

Aides in the office of Charles S. Rhyne, noted constitutional lawyer, said today the implications of Monday's rulings are even broader than most people realize.

Rhyne is former president of the American Bar Association and has been a kingpin in the drive on behalf of city residents and suburbanites to gain more voice in state legislatures, most of which are dominated by steadily diminishing numbers of rural residents.

Rhyne's office took the view that the Supreme Court decision points the way to wholesale re-vamping of city councils and other governmental units.

They pointed, for example, to a decision which the Ohio Supreme Court handed down even before the nation's highest court acted.

Ready to Map Strategy For GOP's Convention

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—"We're really rounding up the delegates," Gov. William W. Scranton said today as he arrived in his state capital after his first campaign tour in quest of the Republican presidential nomination.

He told a handful of well-wishers at the Harrisburg-York State Airport in the early morning hours that he felt his 11th-hour campaign for the nomination was "ripening beautifully."

The governor and his wife, Mary, then drove 25 miles to the executive mansion at Indiantown Gap, Pa., where they plan to spend much of the day catching up on sleep.

Scranton also will meet with his aides to map strategy for the remaining three weeks of the campaign prior to the Republican National Convention.

Scranton, in St. Louis Wednesday, accused Sen. Barry Goldwater of lacking the courage to face him in a television debate and then retracted the statement hours later in Denver.

The attack was the Pennsylvania governor's sharpest ever on a political opponent.

Scranton set a precedent in his own style of political campaigning at St. Louis when he said Goldwater "lacks the courage to face people." The question came up when Scranton was asked to comment on Goldwater's refusal to debate him on television.

Scranton said Goldwater had insulated himself from the public by refusing to hold news conferences and using only prepared material in his addresses.

"I don't consider that to be the right type of candidate to have in America," the governor told newsmen.

Laws Bind 361 Votes For Barry

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater has 361 Republican National Convention delegates bound to him by state laws or party convention actions. That's more than half of the 677 first-ballot votes credited to him by an Associated Press survey.

The remainder of the votes in Goldwater's column come from delegates who say they favor the Arizona senator, including 35 who consider themselves personally pledged or committed and 28 who say they'll vote for him but are not personally pledged.

The total credited to Goldwater in the AP survey is 22 more than the 655 needed for the nomination—provided he can keep them between now and the GOP convention opening in San Francisco July 13.

Goldwater's votes stemming from a binding state primary election total 118; from instructions of a state or district GOP convention, 243.

This could rise if the last 14 delegates to be chosen, in Montana Friday are instructed for Goldwater.

Most politicians privately scoff at such terms as "legally binding." They contend that even such strict statutes as those in Oregon and Wisconsin governing the actions of delegates would be hard to uphold in the courts of another state, such as California, where the convention is to be held.

Republican convention rules recognize the right of any delegate to vote as he pleases, regardless of instructions from state conventions.

Traffic Light 'Ruled Out' For S. Limit

Alternate Plan Advanced Calls For Revamping

A decision on consideration of placement of a traffic control signal at 32nd and South Limit as requested in a letter this week to the District Highway Department engineer by Mayor L. L. Studer has apparently already been made, according to Hare & Hare, city planning engineers.

At a meeting with the Sedalia Planning and Zoning Commission and two members of the City Traffic Advisory Committee Wednesday night it was revealed that the light had all but been ruled out.

Earlier this week the mayor had been assured of a new traffic survey at that intersection to determine if a light was needed.

The engineers said they had talked with C. L. Klamm, then Fourth District Highway Department Engineer, who was re-assigned to the Jefferson City office Monday, and that Klamm had offered an alternate solution to the problem of traffic flow at the intersection.

The new plan advanced and posted on the city planners' tentative traffic planning chart, recommends that Green Ridge Road (Route B) be re-routed north near the Memorial Park Cemetery entrance to join 32nd Street on the West side of South Limit and that Green Ridge road traffic not be permitted to join South Limit except via the artery to 32nd street.

On the East side of South Limit, a similar cut-through was recommended, this one also North joining Clinton Road.

This plan, Klamm was said to have advised the city planners, would reduce the confusion of a 6-way intersection by creating a four-way intersection. Traffic Advisory Committee members pointed out that this would not alter the number of cars requiring access to South Limit and would only create a further bottleneck of traffic and would not measurably improve the situation at the intersection.

The city planners said it would be difficult for a traffic signal to function effectively at that intersection.

The city planners said the State Highway Department was apparently not going to spend a lot of money improving South Limit (Highway 65) and have traffic slowed by a signal at that intersection. It was pointed out that the funds being used by the Highway Department also come from Sedalia taxpayers.

Fifteen Applicants Take Examination For Police Jobs

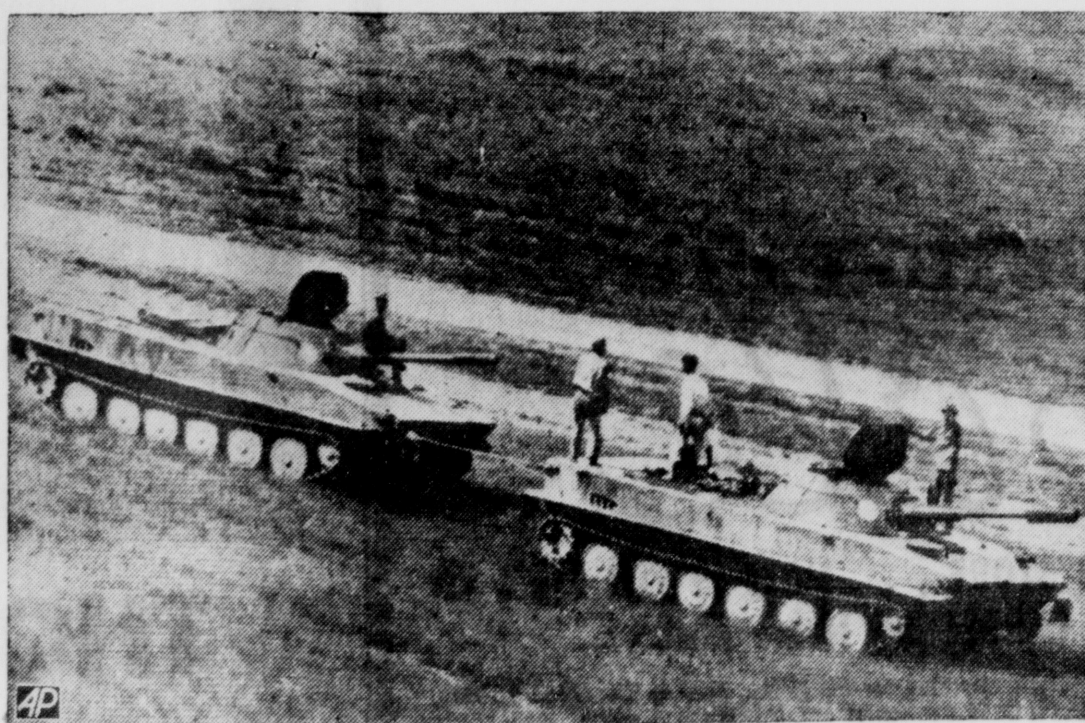

Fifteen applicants took the written examination in the City Council chambers Thursday morning seeking employment with the Sedalia Police Department as class "C" probationary patrolmen.

John Ellison, chairman of the Police Personnel Board, was in charge of the testing session. Ellison said a total of 26 applications had been returned prior to the testing session.

The tests were to be conducted at 10 a.m. and again at 2 p.m. today indicating 11 more applicants would be eligible for examination this afternoon.

Ellison indicated there would be openings for four or five more patrolmen on the department if the council approves the police budget now under recommendation.

Announce Plans For Cancer Study Center

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Plans were announced today for a cancer research center to be established in connection with the Ellis Fischel State Cancer Hospital in Columbia.

W. C. Whitlow, Fulton attorney and president of the non-profit corporation planning the center, said it will be financed primarily by private gifts and such matching public grants as it may obtain.

The center would comprise a cancer detection and rehabilitation unit, cancer library and data processing system. Records of 33,000 cancer patients who have been treated at Ellis Fischel since it opened in 1940 will be available for research studies as well as all new cases that come to the hospital.

Dear Ann Landers: My wife has been bugging me for the last year to let her dye my hair black. Marge used to be a beautician. According to her I'd look at least 10 years younger which would help me in business because younger men get the promotions.

I'm 46 and don't mind the gray in my hair at all. Furthermore, I'd be awfully self-conscious about suddenly turning up with coal black hair because all the people I work with know my hair has been gray for years.

You are a pretty sensible dame and I'd like to hear your opinion. A yes or a no from you would have a lot of influence on me.—SILVER THREADS.

Dear Threads: Some men dye for dear old youth's sake and only their barber's know for sure. Speaking strictly for myself, I like gray in a man's hair.

It's obvious that you'd feel self-conscious turning up all of a sudden with coal black hair, so tell you wife ix-nay.

Dear Readers: Do you recall the letter several days ago from the woman who complained vehemently because her husband's ex-wife sent him several pairs of shorts and undershirts for Christmas?

The gal blew her top and insisted that her husband return the shorts and undershirts because it was far too intimate a gift under the circumstances.

I told the wife to forget it—that it was not worth fighting about for six months, and that although the gift may not have been in the best of taste, it was certainly practical.

I'd like you to know, folks, that nearly 4,000 readers from coast to coast, plus Alaska, Honolulu, and Puerto Rico wrote to say they did NOT agree with me. My position remains unchanged, but it may please you to know that I am a lonely minority.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 14 and I feel that life is just about

Davis-Scott Vows Traded On June 5th

In a candlelight ceremony at eight o'clock Friday evening, June 5, Miss Kathy Davis, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Davis, Barnett, became the bride of Mr. Russell Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Scott, Eldon, at Ninth Street Christian Church, Eldon.

The Rev. Roy Weece performed the double ring service at the altar, which was decorated with fern and white lighted tapers in candelabra.

Mr. Weece sang "Father, All Creating," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Morris Hunt.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length gown of white lace and chiffon. The bodice featured a scalloped neckline trimmed with sequins and long pointed sleeves. The bouffant chiffon skirt was highlighted with scattered embroidered flowers. Her waist length veil of illusion was fastened to a crown of pearls and sequins. She carried red roses and baby chrysanthemums on a white Bible. Her jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

Mrs. Donald Lake, sister of the bridegroom, who served as matron of honor, wore a blue nylon-over-taffeta dress. Her headband was covered with blue net. She carried a bouquet of baby chrysanthemums.

Candlelighters were Miss Sue Ferrin and Miss Tana McMillan. Their dresses were blue taffeta with net overskirts in the same hue.

Miss Emma Scott, flower girl, wore a dress like those of the candlelighters.

Ring bearer was Master Sonny Davis.

Mr. Louis Scott served his brother as best man. Ushers were Mr. Richard Erickson and Mr. Donald Lake.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Davis wore a pink linen suit with accessories of beige.

The mother of the bridegroom selected a beige faille dress, accessorized with red. Both mothers wore carnation corsages with their costumes.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the church, where the blue and white color scheme was carried out in the decorations.

The bride's table held a four tiered wedding cake, highlighted with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

The guest book was attended by Miss Darlene Igenfritz.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Glen Ferrin, Mrs. Oliver Huffman and Mrs. Lucille Schouten.

For traveling to the Lake of the Ozarks with her husband, the bride wore a blue linen suit with accessories of white. The couple is at home at 122 North Oak, Eldon.

The bride is a graduate of Versailles High School. The

Miss Linda Gray Becomes Bride Of Dan Curtis in May Ceremony

In a double ring service read by the bride's father, Brother Cleo Gray, assisted by Brother Forrest Williams, Wellington, Miss Linda Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Gray, 2301 East Tenth, became the bride of Mr. Dan Curtis, son of Mrs. Clay Curtis, LaMonte, and the late Mr. Curtis, at East Broadway Christian Church, at half past two o'clock Sunday afternoon, May 31.

The altar was decorated with white chrysanthemums and carnations, fern and lighted cathedral tapers in candelabra.

Mrs. Earl Leaton, Sedalia, and Mrs. Paul Brim, LaMonte, played nuptial music as guests arrived, and accompanied Mr. Berny Clark, Knob Noster, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white Chantilly lace over taffeta and net. The bodice featured a scooped neckline, outlined in seed pearls, as were the sleeves, which tapered to points over the bride's hands. Her veil was of white net and satin. She carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations and pearls.

Mrs. Dean Wade, LaMonte, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Miss Joyce Wallace, Leeton, was bridesmaid. They wore full skirted dresses of pastel blue. Their headpieces were of white net. In their white gloved hands, they carried bouquets of pink carnations.

Candlelighters were Miss Janice Brim, LaMonte, and Miss Lana Richards. They and the flower girl, Miss Joni Mecum, wore costumes styled like the bridal attendants.

Master Dale Klam, Independence, was ringbearer.

Mr. Gary Curtis, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Groomsman was Mr. Willard Kalthoff, Knob Noster.

Ushers were Mr. Dean Wade, Mr. Bob Burke, Mr. David Gordon and Mr. Tom Files, all of LaMonte. Mr. Bob Burke, Springfield, Mr. Cully Scott, Knob Noster.

The bride's mother was attired in a green and white knit dress with white accessories. The mother of the bridegroom wore a blue jersey dress with accessories of blue. Both mothers wore pink carnations with their costumes.

A reception was held in the church basement following the ceremony. The white nylon lace covered bridal table was decorated with lighted candles in candelabra, miniature bridal figures and a wedding cake baked by Mrs. Wallace Gray, Chilhowee, aunt of the bride. The cake was decorated with pink roses, white sugar bells and wedding slippers. Mrs. Harry Miller and daughter, Karen, served cake. Punch was served by Miss Carolyn Miner and Miss Joann Leiter. Guests were assisted in registering by Miss Gloria Hill. Mrs. Oral Miller and daughter, Calhoun, and Mrs. Harold Gray and daughter, Joan, Independence, aunts and cousins of the bride, attended gifts.

For a wedding trip through southern states, with her husband, the bride wore a pastel blue sheath with blue accessories. The couple will be at home at 307 North Main, LaMonte.

The bride will work at Connor-Wagoner this summer, before resuming studies at Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg, in autumn.

The bridegroom was graduated this spring from CMS, with bachelor of arts and bachelor of science degrees in education. He is assistant sales manager at Inter-State Studios, Sedalia.

Chrysanthemum Topic Given Bunceton Club

Mrs. Leonard Schmidt reported on "Pruning of Mums" at the June meeting of Bunceton Extension Club in the basement of Federated Church.

Mrs. Roy Blank and Mrs. Edgar George were hostesses. Roll call was answered with "My Favorite Mum." Mrs. George Harned gave the devotional.

The monthly letter from Mrs. Kathryn Zimmerman was read by Mrs. Herman Dick.

Each member brought with her, a floral arrangement. Mrs. Harry Monks received first award for her arrangement. Mrs. Leonard Schmidt, second. Mrs. Earl Scott and Mrs. Clyde Nelson received Secret Pal gifts.

Asian Threat Of War May Be Played Up

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
Red China's leaders may be trying to generate panic in Europe and the United States by playing up the idea that a general war in Asia is just around the corner.

Aware that this is an election year in the United States, Peking may seek to capitalize on the embroilment of Americans in debate over foreign policy and on the atmosphere of uncertainty this can create elsewhere in the world.

The end of this summer suggests itself as the ideal time for the Red Chinese to apply the heaviest pressure. The season of the monsoon rains is at hand now in Indochina, and it will last until the end of August. This provides a prospect of lull in military activity in Laos and South Viet Nam and time for diplomatic maneuvering.

Between now and then, Peking seems bent upon a campaign of spreading fright among U.S., European and even Soviet public opinion that there can be calamitous consequences for all Asia and perhaps the whole world because of what is going on in Laos and Viet Nam.

Peking's aim at the moment is to create pressures for negotiated solutions in Laos and Viet Nam. Red China would demand complete U.S. withdrawal from Indochina.

The Soviet Union also says it wants the withdrawal of U.S. forces from South Viet Nam.

The Red Chinese also seem to have aroused deep uneasiness in Moscow that the Southeast Asian situation can involve the U.S.S.R. in an untidy mess from which it might have little to gain and much to lose.

Agitated Moscow statements in the verbal war with the Chinese Communists accuse Peking of following a war policy. Moscow hardly wants a showdown in which it would be obliged to support Peking at the risk of raising danger of a general conflict in Asia.

Peking propaganda says peace in Southeast Asia hangs by a thread, that the United States is trying to compel Red China to use force in Laos.

On the diplomatic front, Peking's minimum demand is a new conference of the 14 nations which "neutralized" Laos in 1962. Only on this basis, it says, can there be a solution to the crisis stirred by a Red grab of what had been territory of the neutralist Vientiane government.

Communists would use a new conference to drag in South Viet Nam with the aim of applying pressure for neutralization there, too. President Ho Chi Minh of Red North Viet Nam has clarified what this means.

Ho said Vietnamese should be left alone to settle the question themselves "on the basis of national independence, peace and neutrality, so they can later attain peaceful reunification of Viet Nam in accordance with the program of the South Viet Nam national liberation front."

That is Ho's cover organization for the Communist Viet Cong. What Ho is saying is that South Viet Nam should be left alone so that the Communists can take over completely.

Attorneys to Seek Change of Venue For Convicted Murderer

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Attorneys for convicted murderer John Edwin Myers said they would file new motions for a change of venue and a post conviction hearing after a post trial hearing was denied Wednesday.

St. Clair County Circuit Judge Joseph Fleming rejected a motion to set aside the murder conviction and death sentence. Myers, 35, was convicted and sentenced for the slaying of Carol Ballard, 10, of Belleville in 1961. Myers is accused of killing her father, an Iowa hitchhiker and a Missouri woman during a crime spree before his arrest in Texas.

He presently is confined at Illinois State Penitentiary at Menard.

The attorneys contended that hearing on mitigation or aggravation is mandatory and evi-

Former County Judge Victim of a Train

PEVELY, Mo. (AP) — J. T. (Jack) Tiley, 46, a former Jefferson County judge, was struck and fatally injured by a train near Pevely Wednesday.

Judge Tiley, a member of the county court for 12 years and presiding judge from 1959 to 1963, had crossed the Frisco tracks to burn trash. Sheriff Arch McKee said the judge started back across the tracks, thinking he could beat an oncoming train. The train struck him and hurled him 100 feet into an embankment.

The sheriff ruled the death accidental.

Tiley is survived by his wife, a daughter and a brother. Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

The attorneys contended that hearing on mitigation or aggravation would be introduced that would affect the judgment and sentence.

World News Glimpses

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
MADRID, Spain (AP)—Nearly 100 suspected Communists have been arrested in a nationwide crackdown, police announced today. They included several foreigners.

The Franco regime's roundup of leftist agitators began in May and the police announcement indicates it is now completed. The suspects face trial this fall in the new National Court of Public Order, which has been given jurisdiction over all political prisoners except those charged with violence.

OXFORD, England (AP) — South Africa's ambassador got a booing and his car a flat tire as he defended his country's racial policies before an Oxford student gathering Wednesday night.

Dr. Carel De Wet's speech to the university's conservative association was interrupted by shouts of "Free Mandela" and "Go home, De Wet" from a crowd of 300 demonstrators outside. De Wet was half dragged to his car by a flying wedge of 10 policemen afterward. Riot fights broke out among the students, four of whom were arrested.

ATHENS, Greece — (AP) — Greek soccer fans battled police, ripped down the goal posts, and set fire to the nets and dressing rooms Wednesday after a match between the country's two top teams ended in a 1-1 tie.

Some 25,000 fans spilled onto the field, charging there had been a fix in the game between Panathinaikos of Athens and Olympiacos of Piraeus.

Police clubbed the demonstrators to drive them out of the downtown stadium.

A number of fans were reported injured, but no arrests were reported.

Damage Suit Filed Against a Sheriff

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Two men who were held on burglary charges later dismissed have filed suit against Sheriff Arthur L. Elliott of Ray County, charging they were wrongfully imprisoned and prosecuted.

The $100,000 damage suit was filed Wednesday by Billy H. Eaton of Kansas City and Frank Lee Register of Richmond, Mo.

The sheriff also faces ouster proceedings as a result of Eaton's arrest. They are under consideration by the Missouri Supreme Court.

Eaton and Register allege that Elliott maliciously prosecuted them for a Feb. 22, 1962, burglary at Camden, Mo. Eaton also charges that the sheriff slandered him. They were arrested in June 1962.

ed injured, but no arrests were reported.

ROME (AP)—Rain, hail and wind storms hit central and southern Italy Wednesday, causing at least 16 deaths. Twelve were killed by lightning.

More than a dozen others were injured by lightning or in highway accidents caused by obscured visibility or flooded roads.

People In The News

LONDON (AP) — Judy Garland's daughter, Liza Minelli, says she is "as much in the dark as anyone" about her mother's announced marriage to actor Mark Herron.

"She hasn't told me anything about it yet," said Miss Minelli, 18, who is in London for a TV appearance.

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Movie actor William Holden is in Taipei to attend the closing ceremonies Friday of the Asian Film Festival as the special guest of the Motion Picture Producers in Asia.

Holden had sent the movie, "Seventh Dawn" in which he stars, to the festival as a guest entry.

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — James Guidry, 23, fainted in the hospital corridor Wednesday when told that he was the father of triplets.

But Guidry, of St. Martinsville, wasn't the only one surprised.

Dr. Boring Montgomery, who delivered the two boys and a girl, said he had not anticipated twins, let alone triplets.

The babies' average weight was 4½ pounds.

Mother and triplets were doing nicely.

Cows Swept Away, But 24 Are Found

SPRINGFIELD, Neb. (AP) — Farmer Henry Gottsch tells this story of the flood that hit his farm Tuesday evening after a torrential rain.

He had gone to the pasture to round up his 26 cows when he saw a wall of water hit the animals.

"All we could see was their heads bobbing on the flood as they went downstream through fences and over the highway. I just kissed them good-by," he said.

He was wrong. He found 24 of them Wednesday.

What really amazed him was that one cow was swept down a creek for five miles, then four miles down the Platte River.

of land acquisition on the East side of South Limit would be the responsibility of the city as well as the cut-throughs on both sides of the Highway. The city owns the cemetery property on the West side of the Highway.

On the brighter side, it was revealed by a spokesman for Hare and Hare that the Highway Department plans to let contracts this summer for work on a six and one-half mile stretch of Highway 65 North from HH (where the present 4-lane Urban Plan route ends). Initially, the new stretch of road would be 2-lane as it currently is, but with provisions for 4-lanes later. The balance of the distance to Marshall Junction and Interstate 70 to be replaced with new road sometime in the future.

The city planners said the State Highway Department, in response to a request from the city, would take over maintenance of the Water Works Road (South Ingram) providing the rights-of-way were turned over to the state. The Old Covered Bridge is located on that road.

Two other subjects were discussed with no final decisions made. One was regarding housing conditions based on zoning. Also under this subject the suggestion of looking into land clearance for possible Public Housing was made.

Land clearance and land use was also discussed by the group during which recommendations or suggestions were made to be investigated.

The Planners also had a chart showing a two-mile area around Sedalia that has also been included in the Sedalia plans, but this cannot be enforced unless the Pettis County Court arranges for a Zoning and Planning Commission which is possible under Missouri Statutes, and which Commission would create zoning as recommended.

The representatives also announced they are about ready to conduct two and three meetings a day with various committees.

The meeting was held at the office of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce with Virgil Herick, chairman of the Board, presiding.

(regional clinics) for the retarded. The Saturday luncheon address, "Prologue to a Farce," will be presented by William C. Healey, Ph.D., Missouri Director of Special Education.

Afternoon and evening banquet presentations will be made by Richard Koch, M.D., Director of the Child Development Clinic of Los Angeles, (Calif.) Children's Hospital. Dr. Koch's participation is made possible by a Nemours Foundation grant to the Missouri Association for Retarded Children through the Missouri Health Council. The afternoon seminar will deal with "The Importance of Early Testing of the Retarded." Dr. Koch's evening presentation will describe "The Traveling Diagnostic Child Development Clinic Project in Southern California."

Sunday sessions will be devoted to vocational and recreation service programs. Panel discussions on both topics will be moderated on Sunday morning by Dwight Boe. On Sunday afternoon Dr. Ross Hamilton, Administrator of the National Association's Department of Labor Contract, will meet at 1:30 with all persons interested in vocational services for Missouri's retarded. He will discuss the establishment of special employment opportunities for the retarded, and the training of personnel to work with them. The Association's Annual Business Meeting will be held at 4:30 p.m. on Saturday. The Association membership will vote on a proposal to establish nine administrative regions in Missouri in the interest of a well-developed voluntary Association activity for the retarded. The Convention is open to the public.

In Other Hospitals

A. O. Heisterberg, 817 East Fifth, returned home Tuesday after being a patient two weeks at Missouri Pacific Hospital, St. Louis. He is to return to the hospital in six weeks for examination.

Accidents

Frank Edwards, 217 East Boonville, received a painful, but not believed serious, wound as the result of an accident with a power mower at approximately 2:40 p.m. Wednesday.

Dr. D. R. Edwards removed a piece of wire from his right ankle at the Bothwell Hospital where he was treated and dismissed.

He was then taken to Bothwell Hospital in a Sedalia police car after the police department received a call on the incident.

Two autos were damaged in a minor mishap at the intersection of Pacific and Lamine at 10:40 a.m. Thursday.

Police reports indicated a 1951 Buick, being driven north on Lamine by Pellie Martin, 65, 400 West Morgan, and a 1960 Ford, east bound on Pacific by Lon Combs Thomas, 66, Marshall, were involved.

Damage was recorded to the left front side of the Martin car and to the left rear of the Thomas vehicle.

A rear-end type collision damaged a car and a truck at Broadway and Engineer at 9:47 a.m. Thursday.

Police reports indicated a 1964 Chevrolet truck, owned by the Case Truck Line Company and driven by William A. Monsees, 38, Bunceton, struck the rear of a 1958 Chevrolet, driven by Frank J. Lefevers, Jr., 16, 525 West Saline.

The rear of the Lefevers auto and the left front of the truck were damaged. Both vehicles were eastbound on Broadway and the mishap occurred as Lefevers halted for a caution light and the truck was unable to stop in time.

Fires In City

Light wires shorted out at 1204 East 14th at 11:45 a.m. Thursday resulting in a run by Sedalia firemen. No damage was reported.

Circuit Court

Judge Frank W. Hayes upheld a Magistrate Court conviction against Carl Allen, 37, 715 South Lafayette, in Circuit Court Wednesday afternoon on a charge of disturbing the peace of Junior Evans, who resides south of Sedalia on Highway 65.

Allen had been found guilty previously by Magistrate Frank Armstrong and sentenced to 30 days in the county jail after which Allen filed appeal to Circuit Court.

Allen testified in Circuit Court himself that he had fired a total of 30 shots from a .22 caliber rifle, from his moving auto as he drove past the Evans residence about 2 a.m. The shots were fired 15 each in two different passes.

Judge Hayes held that he did not desire to jail Allen for the offense in light of the circumstances of the case, but instead assessed a $150 fine plus costs against him. Allen had testified his former wife and daughter were at the Evans residence.

Allen literally had his day in court Wednesday, but his efforts to successfully appeal lower court convictions ended with him in jail.

Judge Hayes upheld a city Police Court conviction on Allen for being intoxicated in public and Allen pleaded guilty to a second charge of being intoxicated in a motor vehicle after City Attorney John C. McCloskey had withdrawn a resisting arrest charge. He was fined $15 each on the two charges of being intoxicated.

These fines plus the $150 for disturbing the peace left Allen owing $180 plus court costs. He was jailed in lieu of the amount and Sheriff Emmett Fairfax said if he is unable to pay he would serve out the fine at the rate of $2 per day.

Wednesday's court action, however, did not clear Allen's name from the Circuit Court docket. He filed three more appeal cases on disturbance of the peace convictions in Police Court on June 8.

The appeal case of the state versus Sherman Woodrow White was continued Wednesday to the September term of Circuit Court on request of the state. White is appealing a Magistrate Court conviction for driving while intoxicated.

Circuit Judge Frank W. Hayes withdrew Wednesday as judge to preside over the case of the state versus Mabel Janette Rahm, Knob Noster, who is appealing a Magistrate Court conviction for speeding.

Judge Sam C. Blair, Jefferson City, judge of the 19th Judicial Circuit, has agreed to hear the Rahm case, court records show.

The city of Sedalia Wednesday paid into Circuit Court the sum of $26,100—the amount assessed by commissioners who appraised three tracts of land where sewage treatment lagoons will be constructed.

The court also Wednesday granted $100 each to E. H. McLaughlin, George H. Miller and Larry Matthews, commissioners who served in making appraisal of the Earl and Helen Thomas property.

The commissioners' allowance was taxed against the city.

The case of the state versus Francis L. Owens, Charles W. Ward and Floyd Weathers was continued Wednesday to the September term of Circuit Court on motion of the defendants.

The three youths were charged with second degree burglary and stealing in the aftermath of a break-in at the Cochran Chevrolet sometime last night.

Police Court

Two women were found guilty in Police Court Thursday morning on a charge of prowling and Judge Lawrence Englund fined them $25 each.

Ramona Wessing, 23, 510 West 16th, and Nita Muller, 31, Route 3, Warsaw, pleaded innocent when they appeared in court.

Police said the two were arrested about 11 p.m. by Officers Herbert Mayfield and Ray Rieder after the officers had been called to investigate a report of a prowler at 923 East 15th. The women were arrested at 901 East 15th, police said.

Officers had received prowler reports at 9:15 p.m. at 2111 East 10th and at 9:40 p.m. at 1114 East 13th, but when patrol cars arrived the intruder was gone.

The case of Linda Greer, Fifth and Washington, charged with careless and imprudent driving in connection with an accident, was continued to June 19.

Kenneth L. Dawson, Licking, Mo., charged with careless and imprudent driving in connection with an accident, forfeited a $25 bond.

Lenord A. Butler, 1516 South Missouri, charged with violating the city anti-litter ordinance, forfeited a $10 bond.

Michael G. Rodick, 1603 West 10th, charged with violating the city anti-litter ordinance, forfeited a $10 bond.

Linda Sue Closser, Route 1, Smithton, charged with failure to obey the lawful order of a police officer, forfeited a $25 bond.

Roger Dee McGinnis, Beaman, charged with failure to obey the lawful order of a police officer, forfeited a $25 bond.

Police Reports

Frank Cooper, 1307 West Third, reported to police Wednesday that a chrome air cleaner had been stolen from his 1958 Chevrolet sometime last night.

Students March In Protest Of Traywick Firing

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — A parade of approximately 50 students marched Wednesday in silent protest of the dismissal of Dr. Leland Traywick as president of Southwest Missouri State College.

A line of cars carrying more students and some faculty members followed the marchers. There was no shouting, no horn-honking, none of the usual hijinks that accompany campus demonstrations.

Some marchers carried placards, others imitation torches. Jackson Harrell, student organizer of the protest parade, said it "emphasized feelings of the student body concerning the firing of Dr. Traywick. I think the number that showed up following the rain demonstrates how strongly they feel."

Some students sought signatures from spectators to petitions requesting a state investigation of Traywick's resignation.

A delegation of six students is to meet in Jefferson City with Gov. John Dalton June 25.

The dismissal April 23 by the school's Board of Regents stirred a controversy in which Traywick accused them of trying to run the college over his head. The regents, in turn, said he attempted to usurp their powers.

Tiny Sikkim Visited By TV Cameras

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Sikkim is a sparkling little jewel of a kingdom set in the lofty Himalayas between Tibet and India. Most Americans probably had never heard of it until last year when 21-year old Hope Cooke of New York married its crown prince.

Now, courtesy of the magic of television and the talents of NBC's imaginative producer Lou Hazam and his camera-writing team, millions of us know a lot about this tiny, beautiful Buddhist country—its rain forests and orchids, its principal export—cardamom, a fragrant spice—its market places and its royal palace.

The former Miss Cooke is now Sikkim's queen and her husband, Thondup, is its king. They were our guides Wednesday night during an hour's trip around the country. Color cameras made the most of the bold reds of the lamas, the uniforms of the palace guard, the burnished gold of the religious statues and of the magnificent mountain scenery.

Like other Hazam-produced special programs — "The Nile" a camera trip down U.S. Route 1 and a journey on the Orient Express — the program was a treat to the eyes, ears and mind and a reminder of television's potential as a real window on the whole wide world.

Confirming our worst fears, there is now a singing group called "The American Beatles." For disbelievers, they will be singing "School Days" next Saturday on ABC's "American Bandstand" show.

NBC's "Sunday" show on June 21 will include some highlights of the Army - McCarthy senate hearings of 10 years ago.

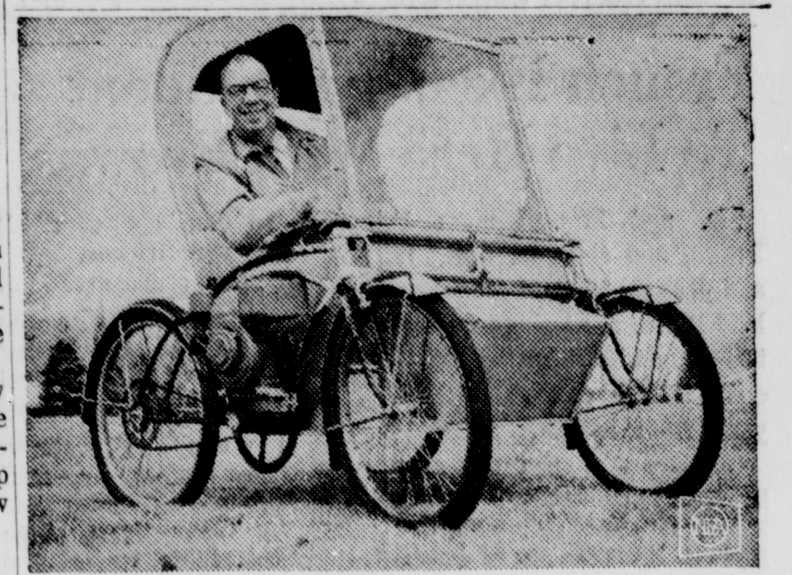

Gov. William S. Scranton will be CBS' "Face the Nation" guest next Sunday.

ABC plans a series of four hour-long specials for sportsmen next season about hunting and fishing—lions, elephants, pheasants, tuna and trout among the quarry.

CBS' Radio's Arthur Godfrey is taping his way around the world. Recordings of his experiences during the six-week trip will be used on the daily show starting next Monday.

James Madison, U. S. president during the War of 1812, was the first American chief executive to wear pants; all his predecessors had worn knee breeches.

French Exchange Student To Live Here With Browns

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Brown, and children, Bill, 16, and Jessica, 14, 1102 New England Drive, are looking forward to having with them the American Field Service student this year, from France.

The young student who will live in their home is Michel Dizen, 17 years old, born Oct. 12, 1946. He is the son of Joseph and Suzanne Dizen, Place professeur Trilliat, Pont de Beauvoisin (Isere).

Michel has a brother, John, 20 years old, and is now doing military service in Germany, and two sisters, Helen, and Ann-Mary, 14 and 15, who are in school.

His father, Michel states, is branch manager in a bank and his mother takes care of the house.

Michel is a boarder in a college and spends his weekends and holidays at home. If it is good weather he says, they go for a run through the surrounding country, if it is cold or rainy they watch TV or spend the afternoon with relatives. He likes sports very much, cycling, swimming, basketball, handball, cross-country but basketball, cycling and swimming are his favorites, and he often goes cycling on Sundays with his brother or with friends.

During the scholastic year Michel likes to read, his favorite books being novels and history books, and he likes classical music.

Michel wanted to come to America and his stay here will be of real interest to him because he will know the language better, the civilization of the country, its history, habits, people, and on the other hand he hopes to make the people he meets know France better. He would like to be an interpreter or to teach in France or abroad.

His religion is Catholic. The American Field Service program which will bring Michel to Sedalia is sponsored locally by the American Association of University Women.

NL Roundup

San Francisco
In Virtual TieBy HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Things are back to normal in Candlestick Park these days. Willie McCovey is delivering souvenirs to the kids who gather beyond the right field fence when he swings. Alvin Dark is making the right moves and the Giants are winning ball games. Why things are so normal that Willie Mays is even hitting homers again.

That delightful combination of McCovey and Mays with a dash of Dark added for good measure, lifted San Francisco into a virtual tie for the National League lead Wednesday with a 3-2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Of course, things didn't look too good for 8 1-3 innings, but then the wheels of success sometimes grind slowly.

Cincinnati starter Joe Nuxhall had a six-hitter and a 2-1 lead going into the ninth. The veteran left-hander had helped his own cause with a homer in the fifth to balance Mays' 19th homer which came in the first. Nuxhall got Jim Davenport leading off the ninth but then Jose Pagan rapped a single. That's when Dark made his big move.

He motioned McCovey, the rangy lefty hitter who's been battling a season-long slump, to bat for right-handed Del Crand-dall against the southpaw pitcher.

That's wrong you say? He's supposed to let the righty batter hit against the left pitcher? Maybe, but who can argue with success? Certainly not the Giant players who mobbed McCovey after Nuxhall's second pitch landed among the youngsters behind that right-field fence.

The victory moved the Giants within seven percentage points of the league-leading Philadelphia Phillies, who ran afoul of Billy Williams and lost to Chicago 9-5. In other NL games, Pittsburgh's Bob Friend won his 11th straight against the New York Mets 3-2. St. Louis nipped Houston 2-1 and Sandy Koufax fired his fourth shutout as Los Angeles blanked Milwaukee 5-0.

McCovey was batting .200 and had just three hits against left-handers this season before tagging Nuxhall. The homer was his 10th.

Almost as welcome as McCovey's blast was the one Mays unloaded in the first inning. The Say-Hey Kid had been held homerless for 19 games before connecting.

Williams smashed two homers and knocked in five runs as the Cubs cut the Phillies down. He also had a triple and raised his league-leading batting average to .382.

Reliever Jack Baldshun wild pitched Chicago's lead run across in the seventh after the Phillies had blown an early lead.

Friend, who has never lost to the Mets, received shoddy fielding support from the Pirates, but survived with a strong eighth-inning. The Pirates tagged loser Tracy Stallard for all their runs in the first inning with Willie Stargell's ninth homer accounting for two of them.

Ray Washburn gave up hits to the first two Houston batters he faced and then held the Colts hitless into the eighth inning before firing. Before it was over Manager Johnny Keane needed three more pitchers to lock up the Cardinal victory.

Washburn's double in the eighth started the winning rally for St. Louis. Ken Boyer's 11th homer accounted for the other Cardinal run.

Koufax had a no-hitter for 4 1-3 innings before Mike de la Hoz dropped a single off Maury Wills' glove. The Braves added two more hits but never threatened and the Dodger lefty coasted to his ninth victory.

Green Ridge
Bank Takes
Trap Shoot

The Farmers and Merchants Bank of Green Ridge, trap shooting team, jumped from sixth place to first place in the Sedalia Rod and Gun Club trap shoot league, Wednesday night. The Bank team after the Wednesday night scoring had compiled 384 "rocks" to take the lead by three over McCown Brothers Salvage team.

Robb Well Drilling team and the Castle Bros. Construction teams who were tied for first a week ago dropped down to a fifth place tie with 373 targets.

Only 28 targets separate the leaders from the bottom team. Standings are Farmer's and Merchants Bank 384; McCown's 380; House of Heavilin 377; Robb Well Drillers and Castle Construction 373; Palmer's Barber Shop 366; Dugan's Paint 360; Broadway Lanes 359 and Norman Plastering Co. 356.

Byron Barbour, Sedalia, of the Bank team was high scorer with 24 "rocks," and was tied with Clarence Mahan of Green Ridge.

In the Derby Shoot Class "A" Bernard Dove, GreenRidge led with 25; Vernon Arnett, Green Ridge, second with 24; Gordon Smith and Ed. Christian, Sedalia, tied for third with 22 each.

Class "B" top spot tied between Dick Mueller, and Mr. Rupe both of Warsaw with 22; second place in a three-way tie between John Rose, Richard Arnett, Green Ridge and J. S. Garrett, Holden all with 21; Bob Parker, Sedalia third with 20.

Class "C" was a two-way tie between Dr. Cooper, Warrensburg and Carl Espelin, Sedalia, each with 20; Red Pace, Knob Noster, Helen Garrett, Holden, and Bill Cole, Sedalia, tied for second with 19 each; L. Gorrrell, Sedalia, third with 14.

MOONLIGHT WATER SHOW — Members of the Carol Flynn Water Ballet group performed intricate maneuvers before a large audience last Saturday night at the Surf Club. Eight members of the troop are visible in the water in this view looking north across the club's swimming pool. The group is from Kansas City.

ANTICS BY THE PROS—Following some professional and complicated dives from the high board, these two swimmers added comedy to the show. At left is Tom Hairabedian, from Southern California, who is destined to become MU's first swimming coach this year. The other diver is Ray Carlson of Kansas City. This view, prematurely snapped, would have shown Hairabedian dive between the legs of Carlson with a few seconds delay in shooting. The two plunged into the pool in what they termed a "horseback dive."

Merchants Nip
Whiteman, 8-7,
With Homerun

Bill Hill, in the bottom of the ninth, saved the day for the Sedalia Merchants, Tuesday night, as he hit a two-run homer over the left field fence. The Merchants nipped Whiteman, 8-7. Hill is now leading the locals in home runs with three.

Jim Fall started on the mound for Sedalia and went six innings, allowing four hits, five runs, fanning four and walking three. Clyde Kubli took over and went three and two-thirds innings, allowing two hits, two runs, and fanning three. Bob Brown finished the ball game allowing one hit and receiving the win.

Bones Morgan broke out of his slump with four big hits to lead the Merchants' scoring attack. Bill Hill also had a single and a double, along with his homer. Hank Spellman blasted two doubles in the Merchants' 12-hit attack.

Lars and Hadley shared the pitching for Whiteman, with Hadley taking the loss.

The Merchants travel to Fulton to meet a powerful team in Central Missouri, Saturday. The Fulton team boasts many stars from the University of Missouri. Players will leave at 5:15 p. m. from Broadway Lanes.

Look At The Voter

Who Are the 'Deciders'?
Who May Turn Election?

EDITOR'S NOTE — Nearly half the American electorate decides early—on the basis of party—how it will vote. But some voters are undecided right down to the wire. Who are the deciders, the ones who often turn elections? Third of four articles.

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Science Writer
ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—For the American voter there are 189 shopping days until Christmas — and just 52 fewer than that to pick a personal choice for president.

For some voters, it just isn't long enough.

Some will wait until the candidates emerge officially from the party conventions. Some will choose during the campaign. Perhaps one in 10 will wait until the last two weeks.

Between 30 and 40 per cent, most of them party stalwarts, know now—and will know all along.

But when current issues tend to pull a voter away from the party of his allegiance, he takes much longer to decide.

"People often say they vote for the man — because that seems the intelligent thing to do — but many of them are actually voting for the party," explained Prof. Angus Campbell of the Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research.

The center's interviewers and analysts have been doing deep, nationwide studies of American voters in every national election since 1948, probing not only how he votes, but why.

From their figures, the American voter stacks up this way in noncritical times:

Twenty per cent are strong Democrats.

Twenty-five per cent are weak Democrats.

Twenty-five per cent are non-partisan, popularly called the independents.

Fifteen per cent are weak Republicans.

Fifteen per cent are strong Republicans.

In the off-year elections, when the races are largely local or congressional, interest is lowest. The strong party affiliates go to the polls in strength. But a great percentage of independents, and a lesser percentage of weak party supporters stay home.

Who then are the independents? The old textbook notion is that they are the true weighers of the issues, the judges, the arbiters of national conscience. But the modern researchers have found that in practice they are mostly the disinterested, the uninformed, the "I don't care—no opinion" political creatures who do not always vote.

From them, SRC interviewers get a full range of answers—from the woman who said she had no personal preference, who knew the campaign was "a critical time" but would be glad when it was over, to the man who said:

"I just vote the way the guy on the corner tells me, cause he does me favors."

While largely the independents constitute a range of apathy between the two parties, they also yield an unusual one per cent who are likely the elite of the voting population. These few are among the best informed voters, but they salute neither party flag.

The independents began as a movement of enlightened voters weary of party promises and corruption, who wanted better government. They are dubbed the Mugwumps, but they bore little similarity to the independent voter of today.

The strong party voter, on the other hand, is better informed as a group. But as much as he reads, hears and sees, he likely will not change his basic allegiance short of a major personal revolution.

His politics are hereditary, passed on from his parents in the conditioning of youth.

The Republican party rose from the stress of the Civil War as the nation's popular choice. By 1884 this was evening out, and in the years following the national alignment became basically regional, with the South and West aligned against the North and East.

From the turn of the century, the Republicans rose again in popularity, bowing only to Woodrow Wilson, but still holding the largest share of popular sentiment.

Then came the depression and the personal revolution for many American voters in the 1930s. The movement began with Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1932 and reached its height in 1936.

In the economically troubled nation, a distinct class division of the vote was created.

Then in the 1950s, the class distinction smoothed out in a turnabout of public sentiment to one man, Dwight D. Eisenhower. Yet while this popular Republican was winning near-record shares of the popular vote, his party had to settle for the old split that has favored the Democrats since the 1940s — 54 to 46.

In 1960, John F. Kennedy took the presidency with only 50 per cent of the popular vote. But his party held on to its 54 per cent edge in other elections that year.

All of this indicates a sort of sophistication of the voter — a man who has learned to split his ticket to separate his party of choice from its prime candidate.

The SRC has also found a peculiar role for the mass media — from newspapers to television — in the arena of politics. The SRC maintains that the voter looks to them for information to fortify beliefs he already holds, and that he is rarely convinced by arguments from the opposition.

There is also a politically homogenous nature to America now, which allows the voter to find his own kind of company, his own political persuasion wherever he lives or works.

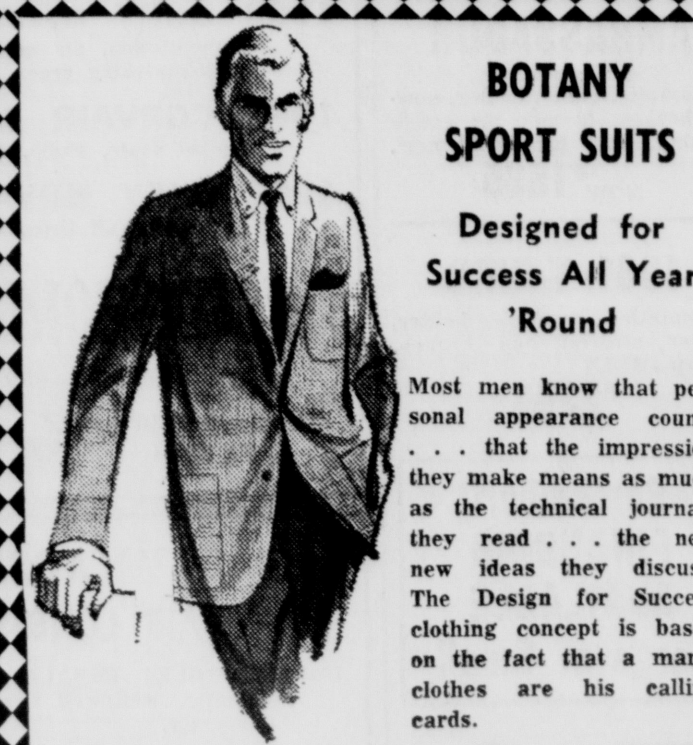

"Everyone thinks of the suburbs as filled with bright, young executives who are all Republicans," says Campbell. "But it just isn't true."

People are always surprised, he said, when he tells them that one-third of the nation's union members vote Republican. On the other hand they are not surprised when he tells them that two-thirds vote Democratic.

There is scarcely any geographic slice of the American electorate that is all one thing or another. The American voter — wherever he lives, works, plays, keeps his own political solidarity, the privacy of his own personal voting booth.

Slowdown
In Personal
Incomes

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — A slowdown in the growth of personal incomes for the first time in months is about the only sour note in the lilting chorus of good times.

Most business news has been so much better than expected in the spring now ending that about the only worry has been: Is it too good to last?

Personal spending is the biggest bulwark of the economy. It is broader than either government or business spending. The steady climb in personal income totals has strengthened this bulwark. This in turn has bolstered industry and trade and above all has inspired hopes that the general upturn will continue into the foreseeable future.

And personal income did climb in May. The only disappointment is that its growth was only about half that of April. Available signs show June pretty much like May.

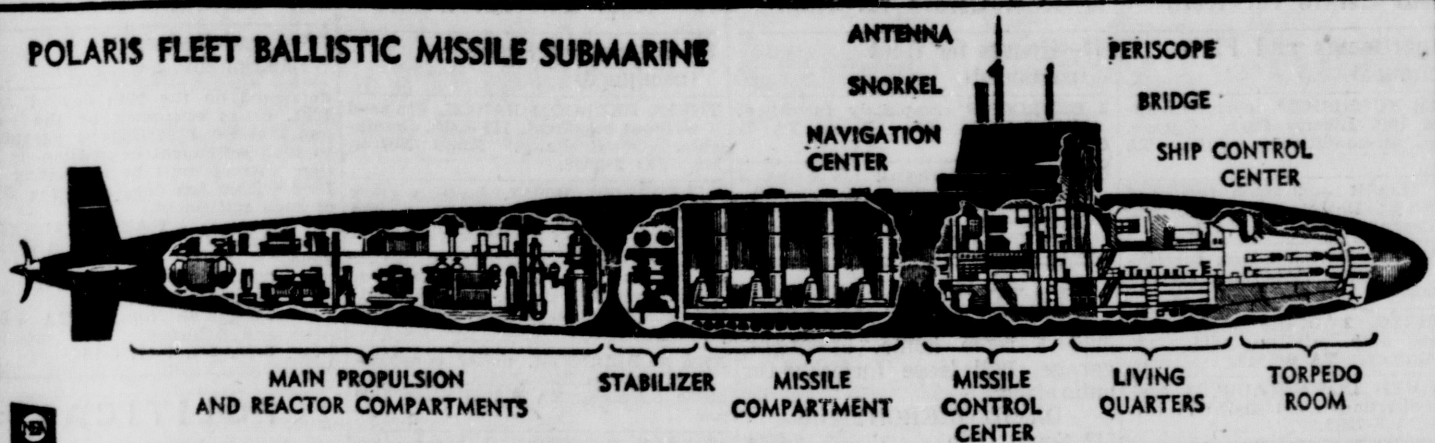

If May is a new trend rather than an exception the question becomes: Can personal consumption expand enough, and fast enough, to justify all of the high hopes on which business is now basing its planning?

Personal debts are rising. And these often represent prior repayment claims when the weekly paycheck is up for distribution.

The May figures for personal incomes put the total at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of about $485 billion. This would be about $1.25 billion above the revised April rate, which at first was estimated to have topped March by $2.2 billion.

One reason that personal incomes are expected to go on rising, at whatever rate, is that the very business boom itself will generate expanded payrolls. If all of the corporate plans for spending on new plants and equipment are carried out, there will be new jobs and longer work weeks.

And employment totals did go

Pilgrimage Made to Trees; Romance of Flowers Is Told

Sedalia Garden Clubs met Friday, June 12, at various places with most of the clubs going on a tour of the town to see unusual trees following the meetings.

Club No. 1 met at the home of Mrs. Earl Lugen, 612 East 16th, for a 1 o'clock dessert luncheon, with Mrs. J. E. Mitchell, Mrs. David Stratten and Mrs. Ed Heffernan assisting hostesses.

The president, Mrs. Emery Herrick, presided, and reported that a rose had been planted in the Liberty Park Memorial Rose Garden in memory of the late Mrs. W. P. Tucker, a member of the club. She announced that the garden club show would be in the fall this year, in October, with a spring show to be held in 1965. Plans were made to do some planting at Buena Vista Home by the club.

Mrs. W. H. Ritzenthaler distributed the list of trees to be seen on the tree tour, which members could take at any time due to the rainy weather on that particular afternoon.

A new member, Miss Philomena Kraus, was voted into membership.

The July meeting will be a picnic on the 10th, at the home of Mrs. Ritzenthaler, Fair Acres.

In the absence of Mrs. W. C. Cain, program chairman, Mrs. Ritzenthaler, introduced the speaker, Mrs. W. O. Wilson, who gave a delightful interpretation of the subject, "Romance of Flowers."

Mrs. Lugen was awarded first on her exhibit of climbing or pillar rose.

Club No. 2 met in the home of Mrs. Charles Walkup with Mrs. Harold Anderson and Mrs. Fred Lange as assisting hostesses. A dessert luncheon was served to 24 members and one guest, Mrs. Omar Baumhardt.

Mrs. Lloyd Roe, garden pilgrimage chairman, gave printed copies listing the beautiful and unusual trees and their locations in Sedalia.

Mrs. Harold Dean, member of the Garden Therapy committee, announced she was assisted by Mrs. Ted Gardner, Mrs. Herbert Seifert and Mrs. Ray Lipard in planting shrubs and flowers at Buena Vista this past week.

Mrs. Harry Kull was voted into Club 2 as a new member.

"Romance of Flowers" was the topic, and Mrs. Roe gave a most informative discussion and bits of legends and history about many flowers that are loved but accepted so casually.

There were 12 exhibits and horticulture specimen for judging. The club arrangement was made by Mrs. Leo Eickhoff.

Garden Club 3 met with Mrs. L. H. Hodges, 1503 West Third, with Mrs. Fred Wesner as assisting hostess. A colorful dessert luncheon was served to 14 members.

The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. W. M. Ellis.

Mrs. L. H. Hodges, program chairman, presented the speaker, Mrs. John W. Lewis. The topic was "Romance of Flowers" and Mrs. Lewis stated that gardens are places of enchantment and where romance started. She told that plants have been on earth much longer than animals and that only plants know how to take in nitrogen and make use of it in their body structure.

Mrs. Lewis gave several symbolisms of plant life, as the War of Roses, Chinese willow ware; canna seeds used in the rosaries in India because of one legend of Buddha; the banishment of man to the moon because of his craving for cabbage, and of the star of Bethlehem when Mary said, "See the star of the East has fallen and borne fruit in kind." The tomato was not used for food until many years after its cultivation.

She mentioned the helleborus, otherwise black helleborus, or Christmas rose or Christmas flower. Down to the time of Queen Elizabeth it was believed the helleborus cured melancholy, and the Germans connected it with the marriage goddess and later gave it the name Christmas rose. Helleborus is used in making insecticides.

The apple is found in the folk lore and the scriptures. The iris is believed to mean wisdom, faith and courage. Besides being used for medicine it was a symbol used on royal standards. June is the month of roses and means lasting love. The rose is grown in all lands except the Arctic and extremely hot regions. History records that in 1802, 250 varieties of roses were found in the garden of Josephine at Malmaison.

The recently developed Peace rose is a symbol of peace.

Mrs. Lewis said the dandelion is a token of spring and that moisture and warmth make a depleted soil productive because of God's love.

She completed her program by giving the poem, "Visions of Sir Launfel on June."

Mrs. Hodges announced the flower show would be held the third week in October.

Mrs. Ellis reminded the members of the list of trees on the garden tour.

The July meeting will be a coffee at the home of Mrs. Clarence L. Carter.

Club No. 4 met at Flat Creek Inn for a breakfast.

Mrs. Clara Beckley, president, presided over a short business meeting after which the club went on a tour to view the beautiful and unusual trees over Sedalia.

The next meeting will be the annual picnic at Liberty Park on Friday, July 10, at 6:30 p.m.

Club No. 5 met at the country home of Mrs. Marshall Parsons in Sweet Springs, with 13 members present, and one guest, Mrs. John Hull. Husbands of some of the members were also guests. They were Oscar DeWolf, Fred Wertz, Carl Wehrli and Marshall Parsons.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Wehrli, president.

Mrs. Oscar DeWolf gave a report on the rose show. They were pleasantly surprised at the large number of exhibits, she said, but disappointed that the attendance was not larger.

In the absence of the program chairman Mrs. Wehrli introduced Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Parsons who showed pictures and experiences of their recent trip to Turkey where they were guests of their son and his family. Mrs. Parsons said there is no juvenile delinquency in Turkey. The people appear well fed and clothed though their resources are very meager.

The July meeting will be a covered dish luncheon at Liberty Park with Mrs. Barnes and Mrs. C. K. Parsons as hostesses.

In the exhibit, "Bridal Nosegay," Mrs. Mary Barnes won first, Mrs. Fred Wertz, second and third. Horticulture, Mrs. P. L. Strole won first and Mrs. Fred Wertz second.

Club No. 6 met at the home of Mrs. Andrew Bordoli, 1814 West Fifth, with Mrs. Herman Taylor assisting hostess, with 16 members answering roll call by naming their favorite tree.

Mrs. James Harvey, president, conducted the business meeting. Reports were given by Mrs. Harvey, Mrs. Paul Berthouex, Mrs. B. E. Heacock and Mrs. O. J. Smith.

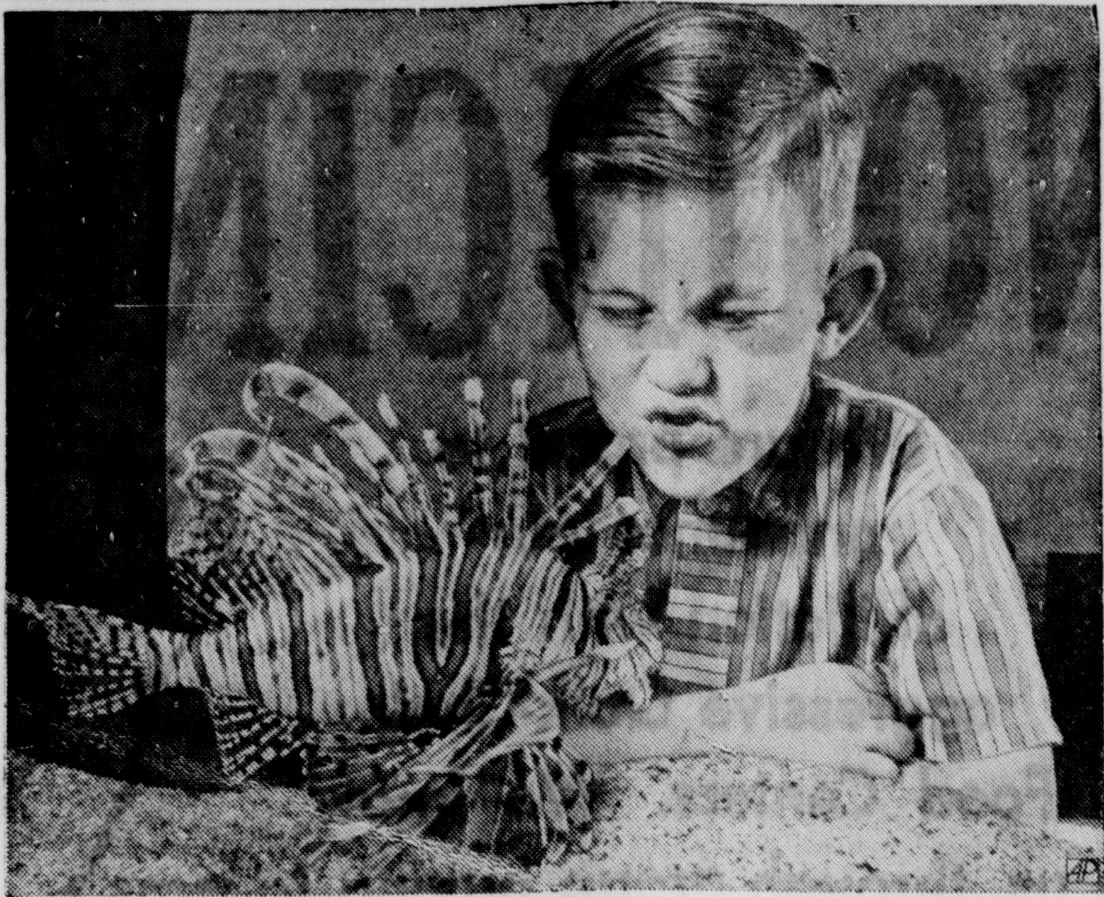

The program, "Romance of Flowers" was given by Mrs. Alvin Heynen.

The club participated in the tree pilgrimage for the observation of 35 Sedalia trees.

Club No. 7 met at the home of Mrs. Lewis Green, Route 3, with Mrs. Mallett and Mrs. Frank Henderson assisting. A dessert luncheon was served to 19 members.

Interesting films were shown by Mrs. Paul Read and Mrs. George F. Chambers.

In the exhibit, "Bridal Nosegay," Mrs. Fred Schwenk received first and Mrs. M. H. Shelby received first in horticulture with a climbing rose.

Club No. 8 met at the home of Mrs. Terry Pile, 211 South Stewart. A dessert luncheon was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Melvin Marriott.

Mrs. Ernest Martin, president opened the meeting with poem, "Comparison," by Hazel Lang.

Mrs. R. O. Smith, program chairman, presented Mrs. Martin who talked on the topic for the day, "The Romance of Flowers."

From time to time, Mrs. Martin stated, man lived out in the open and was surrounded by flowers, plants and trees appealing to all his senses, to his touch, taste, smell and hearing, warning him by the rustling of leaves and grasses, the rasping of branches, the snapping of breaking twigs and the crackling of fallen leaves under foot of any approaching danger by man and beast alike.

The behavior of plants around man was peaceful and soothing and he found there was no such thing as an ugly flower, a menacing plant or an angry tree.

Beef Prices Dip Again At Markets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Beef for Father's Day has seldom been a more practical tradition than this year, when there's a broad variety of the meat at uncommonly low prices at the nation's groceries.

With production of red beef at record levels, shops across the nation are tagging their steaks and roasts at inviting levels. Ground beef is also widely featured.

Most popular cuts include sirloin and porterhouse steaks, round, chuck and rump roasts and shortribs.

Veal is another red meat feature in many shops.

Broilers-fryers are offered widely, with one national chain offering whole birds at 25 cents a pound, cut up fryers at 29 cents.

Fresh turkeys are another poultry attraction, with prices pegged at about 35 cents a pound by some shops.

Among fresh vegetables, main attractions include fresh corn, green onions, cucumbers, rad-

'Endless' Rail Into Sedalia

RIBBON OF STEEL—The installation of new, quarter-mile-long welded rails between Otterville and Sedalia was completed Wednesday. Photo at left shows the "speed crane" gently lowering the new rail onto the tie plates. The burro crane follows, assisting in aligning the new rail which has been picked up from the roadside. The burro crane, right, is picking up the rail end, which will be threaded into the roller cage on the speed crane. The entire operation moves at a slow walking pace.

The Missouri Pacific railroad Wednesday completed laying a stretch of welded, or "endless" rail from just east of Otterville to the Sedalia yards entrance. The railroad system crew reached the yards Tuesday and completed work Wednesday, then began preparations to move on to other rail-laying projects in the system.

This stretch of welded rail is some 15 miles in length, and according to persons who have ridden trains over such tracks, will be a noticeable improvement over the old short rails. The installation of the new-type rails is a part of the railroad improvement program started in 1962 through use of funds made available by the federal tax cuts at that time.

The story behind welded rail, from a MoPac standpoint, begins in the company shops in North Little Rock, Ark., where regular rails are welded into 1,440 feet in length. The quarter-mile lengths are then loaded onto a string of 33 special flatcars and hauled in groups of 36 rails each to the installation site. At the site the rails are anchored at one end and the train backs off, letting the rail fall along the old track. This was done here several weeks ago.

Installation of the welded rail is a matter of precision and coordination. The system track force of some 60 men who work and stay together uses an array of special equipment, all concentrated in some 200 yards, to lay rails at what would be considered a slow walk.

One rail is removed and one new rail is installed at a time, with the old rail used as a guide. The old spikes are removed by special spike pullers, the old rail is manually rolled off the roadbed. The old tie plates are then removed and a machine that sweeps gravel, dirt and debris from between the ties goes to work. Another machine comes along and grinds off the old tie to exact level in relation to the other ties, and another machine sprays the fresh wood surface with preservative.

Other workmen follow with spike hole plugs, so the new rail, the crew lays one rail to point laying the remaining rail. The end of the project then reverses the operation and proceeds as back toward the starting end from Otterville to Sedalia.

On the heels of these workmen comes a huge, pneumatic crane called a "speed swing." From this crane's short, powerful boom hangs a roller cage, through which the welded rail, which had been picked from alongside the track by a burro crane, is threaded. With the machine threaded, the roller cage lifts the rail some two feet above the roadbed and as the machine is moved backwards, the rail is gently lowered into place on the new tie plates.

The burro crane immediately behind the rail layer crane, moves onto the new rail as it falls into place and helps adjust the new rail into place as the work moves along. This crane also moves equipment on and off the track as the track is cleared for an oncoming train or at the end of the day's work. Following the burro crane are the powered spike hammers, and the machines that apply rail anchors at specified distances.

The steady pace is delayed only when it is necessary to join two of the long rails to gether. The rail ends are drawn tightly together with no expansion space. Expansion is controlled by anchoring the rail so it does not move with the rail being under tension or compression, depending on the temperature. The angle bars and rail ends are coated with a powerful epoxy resin to prevent the joint from loosening. Normally, in laying welded

Pennsylvania Dutch

'Dying' Language Shows An Extraordinary Vigor

HELLERTOWN, Pa. (AP)—For a language believed by some linguists to be dying out, Pennsylvania Dutch is showing extraordinary vigor.

One who scoffs at the idea that the dialect is doomed is Robert Hoppes, 72, a retired teacher and a prime mover in a crusade to perpetuate Pennsylvania Dutch in speech and in print.

Hoppes and his colleagues say it is necessary to get rid of some notions about the language that they say have been spawned chiefly by opportunists among those catering to tourists.

The Pennsylvania Dutch known to the public is largely an assortment of rustic dialogues, homely aphorisms and mixed up domestic instructions.

Here are samples of what scholars call phony folk lingo, a mock mixture of Dutch-English:

"Look the window out and see who's coming the yard in."

"Pop's on the table still, and half et."

"The old ones is all (meaning gone, finished, the end) and the new ones ain't (meaning arrived) yet."

"We grow too soon oldt and too late schmart."

These are cited as true examples of the mating of the dialect with English in the Pennsylvania Dutch country:

"Outen the light." Outen is a word that does yeoman service.

"He is wonderful sick." "Wonderful" is widely used in the sense of very, exceptional, etc.

"Make the door open."

"Eat your mouth empty once."

"I'll eat up and down," meaning on the run.

Hoppes, for 46 years a teacher, athletic coach and school principal, is of Pennsylvania Dutch descent. All his formal education, including higher learning at Kutztown State, Muhlenberg and Moravian, has been close to Pennsylvania Dutch roots and traditions.

Hoppes is secretary of the Hellertown Chamber of Commerce, an officer of several Pennsylvania Dutch organizations, and active in the Pennsylvania Dutch Folklife Society.

The areas of the state heavily populated by the Pennsylvania Dutch are to no small degree bilingual, in somewhat the same way South Africa is, with its English and Afrikaans.

Pennsylvania Dutch is used in all forms of social communication. It is widespread in business and professional life. It is employed in church services. A grasp of the dialect and some familiarity with the background of the people who use it are needed for an appreciation of the extensive Pennsylvania Dutch writing that is part of the regular journalistic fare in many thousands of homes. Some radio stations feature weekly Pennsylvania Dutch programs.

Although this state is the stronghold of the Pennsylvania Dutch, originally mostly immigrants from the Palatinate region of Germany, settlements were made also in New York, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, Kentucky, Illinois, Michigan, Iowa, Wisconsin, Kansas, Ohio, Georgia, Indiana, Oklahoma, North Dakota and Canada, especially Ontario.

Buy Sticker or Get Stuck

Never put off till tomorrow what you can do today, is an old maxim with positive advice.

A negative one is this—Never do today what you can as well do tomorrow. This one is well adapted to suit the disposition of procrastinators. Among these are the great number of Sedalians who annually put off buying a city vehicle license, or if they buy one, fail to stick the decal onto the windshield. Some owners wind up in a dilemma when they can't find their misplaced license.

If a person will take a peek at his colored vehicle decal he can see in small type the notation that the license expires May 31. The city has been more than generous each year with a policy of granting extension until June 15. Moreover, the city collector has kept her office open until noon on Saturdays to accommodate license purchasers.

But, as usual, the procrastinators were lined up on June 15 trying to get in under the wire. So many persons did not succeed that the police department granted another extension until after 12 midnight Friday, June 19.

That, finally, should be the deadline. Thereafter arrests of those owners operating or permitting operation of motor vehicles without city license on Sedalia streets, should be hauled into court and fined.

The authorities have been exceedingly flexible about this matter. The subject of city license purchase and display has been so persistently advertised that there is no excuse for motorists ignoring the law any longer.

Those who promptly pay for the privilege of driving on city streets should not be expected to carry the tax load in this department while procrastinators take their own sweet time about paying up.

He who defers this from day to day, may rue the court edict to pay and pay.

MILWAUKEE JOURNAL: Ribbon Real Estate. — The Federal Bureau of Land Management has a batch of oddly shaped chunks of public land up for sale in the Oklahoma Panhandle. One piece is one and one-half miles long and only 37 feet wide. Another is half a mile long and 20 feet wide. Customers may be hard to come by. The United States seems to have a number of people who take a hostile view of everything from fluoridation and mental health to civil rights and the United Nations. Here, perhaps, are potential customers for government. Narrow lots might appeal to narrow minds.

The opening of the Old Trails bridge across the Missouri River at Boonville is proving a great stimulus to the growth of that city, according to C. M. Harrison, former Sedalian, now editor of the Boonville Daily Republican. He says the population has increased by 1,000 during the past few months.

King Enjoys Chasing Fire Engines

(Editor's Note — Drew Pearson is among the first newspapermen granted an interview with the new king of Greece. Today the king tells about the problems of Turks and chasing fire engines.)

By DREW PEARSON

ATHENS—Probably the toughest job inherited by any European during the year 1964 was that of King Constantine of Greece. During a little more than a year, Greece has experienced four changes of government, two elections, a bitter battle over Cyprus, and strained relations with its most important neighbor—Turkey.

Suddenly the death of his father, King Paul, put a 24-year-old youngster on the throne of the country where democracy was born, faced with all the above problems, plus the problem of keeping democracy on an even keel.

To learn something of the man who will help pilot the fortunes of an important American ally, I called on the new monarch, found him to be intelligent, disarmingly frank, and with a delightful sense of humor.

I recalled having lived in the Balkans immediately after the first world war, when Greek relations with other Balkan countries were strained, and I asked what Greece's relations were with her neighbors today.

"Our relations with Yugoslavia are good," his majesty replied. "Our relations with another neighbor, Bulgaria, are improving."

"What about relations with Turkey?" I asked, touching the sorest spot of all. "And what about relations between Greeks and Turks who live together in areas other than the island of Cyprus?"

"There are some parts of Greece where there are many Greek-speaking Turks," the king explained. "I went up to Thrace last week to inspect the army, and the Moslem population welcomed me just as cordially as the Greeks did. I saw many mosques as churches. These Moslems enjoy all the freedoms, including the freedom to practice every aspect of their religion without any hindrance."

"I was sitting with the chief Mufti at lunch and the head of the Turkish community came to hand me a letter, saying how grateful they were and that they were loyal to the king. In Rhodes we have also had a Moslem population living harmoniously with the Greeks for years."

U.S.-Greek Relations

I asked whether Greek relations with the United States had deteriorated as a result of the Cyprus dispute.

"No, I don't think so," was the reply. "Our relations have always been good and I'm sure they will continue to be. Do you think," he asked, "that they have been hurt in the United States?"

I answered in the negative, and then asked ed the young king perhaps the most difficult question of all: "In this difficult and disordered world, what can a king do to bring more stability?"

Constantine hesitated a moment, then replied:

"A king can use his influence for moderation and steadiness. He can work against extremism on either side. He must try to give good advice. He must help where help is most needed. He must stick to the rules of the constitution. He must influence all the people toward a more moderate way of thinking. Finally and above all, he must work for better understanding and peace."

Turning to less weighty problems, I asked his majesty how he gets his exercise.

"I used to sail," he replied. "But that takes too much time and I had to give it up. I also gave up horseback riding. I found that the horse gets more exercise than you do and it takes a long time to tire the horse before you get tired yourself. So the best answer I have found is squash. A half hour or an hour of squash gives you a lot of exercise in the least time."

"When I was young I used to follow fire engines," I said.

Chasing Fire Engines

"Oh," said the king, reacting goodnaturedly to my wisecrack. "You're referring to my bumping that fire truck yesterday. That was all the fault of my sister, Princess Irene. She and I were returning from the Athens meeting. Those are the meetings my father started in order to inspire new thinking and new ideals in this world of ours, so as to keep pace, spiritually, with the mechanical age. We have invited speakers from all parts of the world—Professor Heisenberg of Germany spoke yesterday. There was also Professor Finley of Harvard, Lord Adrin, and tonight, I think, Professor Yukawa of Japan."

"Anyway, we were driving home yesterday when a fire truck passed us and Irene said, 'Let's go to the fire.' We were already late for dinner but anyway we followed the fire truck, when it suddenly stopped short—just like that. I slammed on the brakes and stopped short too. I didn't hit the truck. But when I looked over to see how my sister was, my foot slipped off the brake and we drifted gently into the back of the truck."

"You see," I told Irene, "it's all your fault. We're late for dinner. We've bumped into a truck, and we didn't even see the fire."

Later, American Ambassador Labrousse told me that the king had attended all sessions of the Athens meeting and invited the distinguished professors to lunch at the palace, where he made a short but very inspiring speech about the importance of emphasizing "love thy neighbor as thyself" in a world where technical progress is moving faster than spiritual progress.

Double Revolution Doors Opened

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has opened the doors to a double revolution in American life—and given it a new sense of justice—by stepping into a vacuum in race and politics.

The vacuum was created by the failure of the democratic process to wipe out two injustices which the ruling forces—white majorities and politicians—sought to ignore.

The court has angered many with its willingness to act where all held back. But the alternative was to let the democratic process decay, which would have been a confession of democratic failure and national impotence.

The first revolution began just over 10 years ago when the court on May 17, 1954, declared the principle of racial segregation unconstitutional by outlawing segregation in public schools.

The second revolution began with three decisions — one in 1962, two this year — that elections to state legislatures and the House in Congress must be made more democratic by trying to give all voters an equal voice.

The court has been accused of usurping power. If Congress thought so, it would have tried to curb the court. It did not. Instead, it accepted as law what the court did and has sought to conform to it.

Thus to the rest of the world, not entangled in American politics or its racial prejudices, the court stands as an expression of the national democratic conscience at the very moment this country seeks to be a democratic symbol.

While the Civil War freed the Negro, it never in practice made him equal to the white man. The Supreme Court blessed the inequality by making it an official part of American life with its separate-but-equal decision of 1896.

This said Negroes could be segregated so long as the treatment they got was equal to that given white people. The treatment became increasingly unequal, particularly in the South but in the North, too.

The nation had more than half a century then in which, through its democratic processes, to remove the injustice but it sat back unwilling to move even though the rest of the world, with the colonial peoples freed, was rushing through one of the most revolutionary moments in all history.

It was the court, not Congress, which in 1954, finally said an end to unequal treatment of citizens. If the court had not acted, there was no indication Congress would have acted for another half century.

For the first 60 years of this century American politicians largely ignored that other priceless American possession: full enjoyment by all citizens of the democratic process, meaning equal representation.

Why? Because these politicians would not yield power. In those 60 years there had been vast shifts in populations from cities to suburban areas.

For example: A state's rural legislative district, which years ago might have contained far more people, now had 20,000. A city district, which years ago might have had far fewer people, now had 100,000.

But each of those two districts under arrangements set up back in 1900, was entitled to only one state representative in the legislature. Thus each farm vote was now equal to five city votes.

Although state constitutions in many cases had provided for such conditions, by requiring reapportionment every 10 years or so to provide more or less equal voter representation, state politicians ignored their constitutions, did nothing.

Nor did Congress, whose members come from the states, do anything. Citizens protested but got no action. This went on for years. Finally, between 1962 and last Monday the court stepped in.

It ordered states to redistrict according to population to give their citizens a more equal say in electing state senators and representatives and members of the House in Congress.

Without this action by the court, the voting inequality could have continued another half century.

Democrat Pick-ups

WALKING DOWN the street near the public library two women saw a large limb about three inches around and about six feet long fall from a tree at Third and Kentucky, just missing a car. The people in the car didn't see it. As big as it was and the location, it could have easily caused a wreck of a car. But as they walked on toward it a teenage boy who also saw it fall, crossed over picked it up and put it on the parkway, evidently realizing, too, that it could cause an accident.

From apparently no place came a little dog that followed the boy out into the street. Because he was afraid it would get run over the boy made the dog go back on the sidewalk, and the women decided the little dog belonged to him.

Having stopped to do a good deed he saw needed doing the boy continued on east down the street quite unaware that anyone was watching him. The little dog tagged along behind him. But the dog evidently didn't belong to him after all. It was just a little stray. Because when they reached Ohio Street the boy went south and the dog went north. The women smiled about such a worthwhile teenager and the dog that wanted to help him. — H. L.

THREE WOMEN WERE returning from California, one in the back seat of the car where she had been asleep and the other two in the front seat. They were crossing the desert when one of the women in the front seat saw a whirlwind of dust coming toward them and commented on it.

It seemed to get closer and closer and bigger and bigger. "It's getting bigger," said the woman to the driver, "you better see if you can outdistance it."

The woman stepped on the gas and they went faster but the dust kept coming and the woman kept going faster while the excited conversation between them continued about the dust storm which they were afraid was going to overtake them and which would be bad if it did.

It was gaining on them, though, and then one of them saw what it was — it wasn't a dust storm at all, it was a truck raising such a lot of dust as it sped along that it looked like a whirlwind of dust, and they were sure glad to find out that that dust storm they were trying to get away from was just a truck. — H. L.

DEAR POLLY—I was so disgusted with the way my trash cans were abused by the trash collectors every week that I decided to paint my new ones a pastel color. On the lids I wrote with a black marker: "Christmas comes every year. Please handle these cans with care." Not only do they handle the new ones with care, but the message always brings a smile to their faces.

I find that discarded seat slip covers make very attractive bags to use for carrying laundry to the coin laundry. Just zip the cover and no one knows it holds dirty clothes. — MRS. T. C.

DEAR POLLY—I am a college student and must research several different topics at the same time. I found that using a special color index card for each subject helps. No longer do the cards get mixed up nor do I arrive at the library with the wrong set of notes.—JANE

GIRLS — This system would work equally as well at home for recipes and household files. —POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Do you and the other girls have trouble hiding packages and surprise gifts from your children? If so, just put them in a pillow slip, pinned to a coat hanger and then cover the pillow slip with a coat or robe and hang in the clothes closet. The children will always look over or under the clothes. My secret is now out, so it may not work for me next time. My children read Polly, too. — MRS. L. S.

Thanks for sharing your good secret and perhaps the children will not see the paper today. Anyone so clever about hiding things can surely keep the paper out of their way this one day. But don't let them get the habit of passing it by. We love having a column that interests all the family. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I have a couple of hints for those who will be renting summer cottages. If the stove oven does not have a light on the inside, keep a flashlight handy for checking on your baking.

Those little metal telephone stands (they can be obtained with very few trading stamps) make excellent night stands. The two shelves will hold slippers, clock and so on and when leaving for home again can be very easily packed. — MRS. S. T. S.

DEAR POLLY — When the white tapes on Venetian blinds become yellow and discolored, go over them with white liquid shoe polish. It makes them look like new and saves all the fuss and bother of putting on new tapes. — MRS. J. M.

The Mature Parent

Boy, 9, Neglects His Pet

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: Our 9-year-old boy was so crazy about a dog owned by some neighbors that we took her when they left town. At the time he promised to take her out four times a day and this was the condition on which we let him have her. But he has broken the bargain. It's like pulling teeth to get him to take her out even once a day. My husband thinks that we should give the dog away if he refuses to do what he promised.

Answer: He promised too much, maybe. My advice is to reduce his dog-outing to one time a day and to reduce it without either anger or contempt.

Don't run off with any notion that I am advocating soft-headed indulgence of your child. I am not. I am advising you to help him down from the high horse from which he made you an approval-seeking pledge on which he can't deliver.

The chronic promise-breaker invariably pledges us the most glittering benefits. Like the 9-year-old who grandly pledges himself to take his dog out four times a day, the adult promise-breaker has to grandly pledge himself to pay his whole bill of $200 by next Monday. It is simply not within his power to offer us $25 on his $200 bill. For he makes us promises, not to keep them but to command our grateful admiration.

Once he has received our admiration, reality compels him to remember that he can't pay us by next Monday. Anticipating our criticism, he begins to get angry at us and to cook up reasons that will justify his mistreatment of us. In no time at all he has us blamed for his failure to keep his word and as your child is doing right now, fusses and carries on at us as though he owed us nothing.

I don't want to see this kind of slipperiness encouraged in your youngster. So revise his commitment to a humbler, less showy one which he can keep. It will be unnecessary for him to elaborate alibis for his inability to maintain the first one.

He himself has been unable to propose reducing his pledge to one dog-outing a day. That is because he is already afraid that the humbler offer would be acceptable, arousing your contempt and exposing him to no ble sermons on the virtue of keeping promises.

The way to teach your son to become a chronic promise-breaker is to make him ashamed right now of what he can't freely give you.

Seven Keys to Happiness

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

So you want to be a real companion to your husband? Most wives think they do. But not all wives are willing to make the effort.

If you ARE willing, none of these suggestions will seem like too much trouble to you:

Give your husband's favorite pastimes a real try. Don't refuse to go hunting because you're "scared to death of guns," or veto fishing because you think you'd be bored sitting in a boat all day.

Always have ideas of your own of something to do, so that when your husband asks "What would you like to do . . . ?" you don't give some such dispirited reply as "Nothing special, I guess."

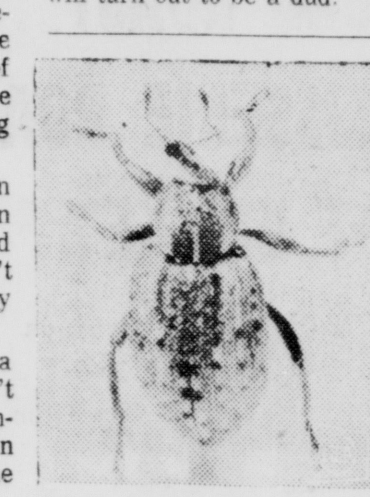

Be a good sport. No one is a good companion who doesn't know how to make light of inconveniences, or how to fall in happily with new plans when the original ones don't work out.

Leave your worries at home. Your husband can never get away from it all, if you insist on bringing all your worries with you and discussing them endlessly.

Keep your advice to a minimum. Let your husband be in charge—even if you are inclined to manage things at home.

Be willing to do things on the spur of the moment. If your husband phones to ask you to dinner after you already have roast in the oven, why mention it? You can use it for another meal.

Be enthusiastic. Don't go along half-heartedly with your husband's plans and expect him to be happy. Unless your enthusiasm matches his, any outdoor will turn out to be a dud.

Sacred Heart Celebration Is a First

An event that was not only a first for Sedalia but rare anywhere was the celebration of the golden anniversary or ordination to the priesthood of Rev. Bernard Condon, C. P. S., who was born in Sedalia in 1888, and who said his first mass at Sacred Heart Church on exactly the same date and day 50 years ago. Out of 235 priests of the Precious Blood Order in the United States who have died within the past 120 years only 35 have lived to celebrate their golden jubilee or ordination, and no other priest has celebrated his golden jubilee in Sedalia.

The celebration began with a liturgical outdoor procession of more than 40 specially robed participants, 24 little first communicants, a Knights of Columbus honor guard; five high school altar servers, five priests wearing surplices, the jubilant and his deacon and sub-deacon vested for the solemn high mass and the Rt. Rev. Joseph M. Marling, C. P. S., Bishop of Jefferson City, who preached the laudatory sermon. When the procession reached the front door of the church and entered the Sacred Heart Men's Choir sang the processional psalm, "Ecce Sacerdos" and chanted and sang their choir parts for the solemn mass that followed.

A special Bishop's throne had been set up in the sanctuary for Bishop Marling. The theme of the Bishop Marling's sermon was "The Meaning of Priesthood." He spoke of the appropriateness of Father Condon's celebration of his golden jubilee mass at the church where he, as a child, served mass, and was first attracted to the priestly vocation. Father Condon was a professor of classical languages at St. Joseph College from 1914 to 1940 where Bishop Marling was a student under him during his seminary days, as were, also, Rev. F. C. Laudick, pastor of Sacred Heart and Rev. Herbert Kramer, who was a former Provincial of C. P. S. order in U. S., and served a six year term around 1950 as Moderate General of the Order in Rome, and is now rector of the Jefferson City Diocesan Seminary at Hannibal.

A banquet followed the mass in the school cafeteria with Father Laudick as master of ceremonies. Telegrams of congratulations were read, one from Vatican City in the form of a blessing from Pope Paul.

Seated at the head table with the jubilarian were his nephew, William Driscoll and Mrs. Driscoll, Moline, Ill.; his niece, Mrs. Ralph Rabourn and Mr. Rabourn, Raytown; and his cousins, Rev. Charles Meiser, Oklahoma City, who was the deacon at the solemn mass and Sister M. Sabas of Our Lady of the Lake College, San Antonio, Tex. Others at the table were Bishop Marling; Rev. Lawrence Cyr, a professor from Wichita, Kans. who was a sub deacon at the mass; Rev. Herbert Kramer, C. P. S., Rev. Robert Stuckenborg, C. P. S., new Del Bufalo Seminary, Liberty; Rev. Michael Spegeler, C. P. S. pastor at Germantown; Rev. Killian Dreiling, C. P. S., Kansas City; Rev. Urban Iffert, C. P. S. pastor at Montrose; Rev. Gottlieb Steinwachs, Springfield; and five Sisters of the Precious Blood of the Sacred Heart Convent.

Father Condon told in a lively manner of incidents in his early life in Sedalia.

A reception was held in his honor in Sacred Heart Cafeteria from 3 to 4 p.m. The banquet and the reception refreshments were prepared by the refreshment committee of the Sacred Heart Altar Society with the chairmen, Mrs. Henry Salveter, Mrs. Catherine Simmons and Mrs. Steve Timbortious.

Father Condon is now retired and lives at the home for retired priests of the Precious Blood at Carthage, Ohio, where a mass and dinner were held at the St. Charles Seminary May 17, in observance of his golden anniversary, and attended by more than 100 priests and 185 friends.

Enrichment and Fortification Of Foods

Enrichment and fortification make important contributions to the nutritive value of food in the United States. Food economists in the Consumer and Food Economics Research Division estimate that cereal enrichment increases the thiamine in the current food supply by about one-third, iron and niacin by one-fifth, and riboflavin by one-tenth. They also estimate that the vitamin A in fortified margarine increases this nutrient in the food supply about 6 per cent, and the vitamin A in fortified milk (all forms) increases it by another 1 per cent.

For those not "in the know," "enrichment" usually applies to addition of nutrients to cereal products, and "fortification" to addition of nutrients to other foods. "Enriched" on a label signifies that the food contains added nutrients in kinds and amounts meeting standards established by the Food and Drug Administration. At present, standards of identity for enriched products have been established for the following: White bread, rolls, and buns; white flour, self-rising flour, Farina, macaroni and noodle products, cornmeal and corn grits; self-rising cornmeal, and milled rice.

"Fortified" on a label does not carry the same assurance as "enriched" because no standard of identity has to be met. The number of fortified foods on the market has been growing rapidly. The quantity of ascorbic acid sold for addition to fruit juices and drinks tripled, and Vitamin A for addition of milk doubled between 1957 and 1961, according to a survey made for the USDA by the Bureau of the Census. The ascorbic acid sold in 1961 for use in fortified foods would be sufficient to increase ascorbic acid in the food supply by 5 per cent.

The USDA has had surveys made periodically by the Bureau of the Census, in which manufacturers and distributors of synthetic vitamins and iron have given information on quantities used for enrichment. The latest of these surveys, covering the period 1957-61, was expanded to obtain data on quantities used in fortification of foods.

One Safe and Sane Rule For Polite Conversation

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — If you really mean something, it's perfectly alright to think it — but don't say it.

In most cases, say just the opposite.

That is the only safe and sane rule for polite conversation. It is also the whole art of double-talk, skill in the use of which can advance you in the worlds of society and business and win you a reputation for warm sincerity.

Here are a few more useful examples:

"You're the only one I know who gave up smoking and didn't gain weight." When a bucket is already full of lard, how can you put anymore in?

"Senator, I don't know where we'd be without men like you, selflessly dedicated to the public interest." We'd be better off.

"For once, let's pick a candidate we can all take pride in." For once, let's pick one who can get elected.

"I just adore backyard cook-outs. And now that I've seen how you broil your steaks—" I think I'll have some of that yummy charcoal instead.

"There isn't a single gray hair in your head, Ed. How do you keep it that color?" It looks like you use brown shoe polish on one temple, and black on the other.

"The thing I like about Grace is how she always says things in such an amusing way." Half a wit is always funnier than none.

"Oh, what a perfectly darling, darling, darling baby!"—Ugh—this one ought to set back parenthood half a century.

"Mind you, George, I'm not saying you're not worth more money to the firm." What I'm

Washington Eulogy

Henry Lee, of Virginia, at the request of Congress, delivered a eulogy of George Washington in December of 1799 containing the famous phrase "First in war, first in peace, first in the hearts of his countrymen."

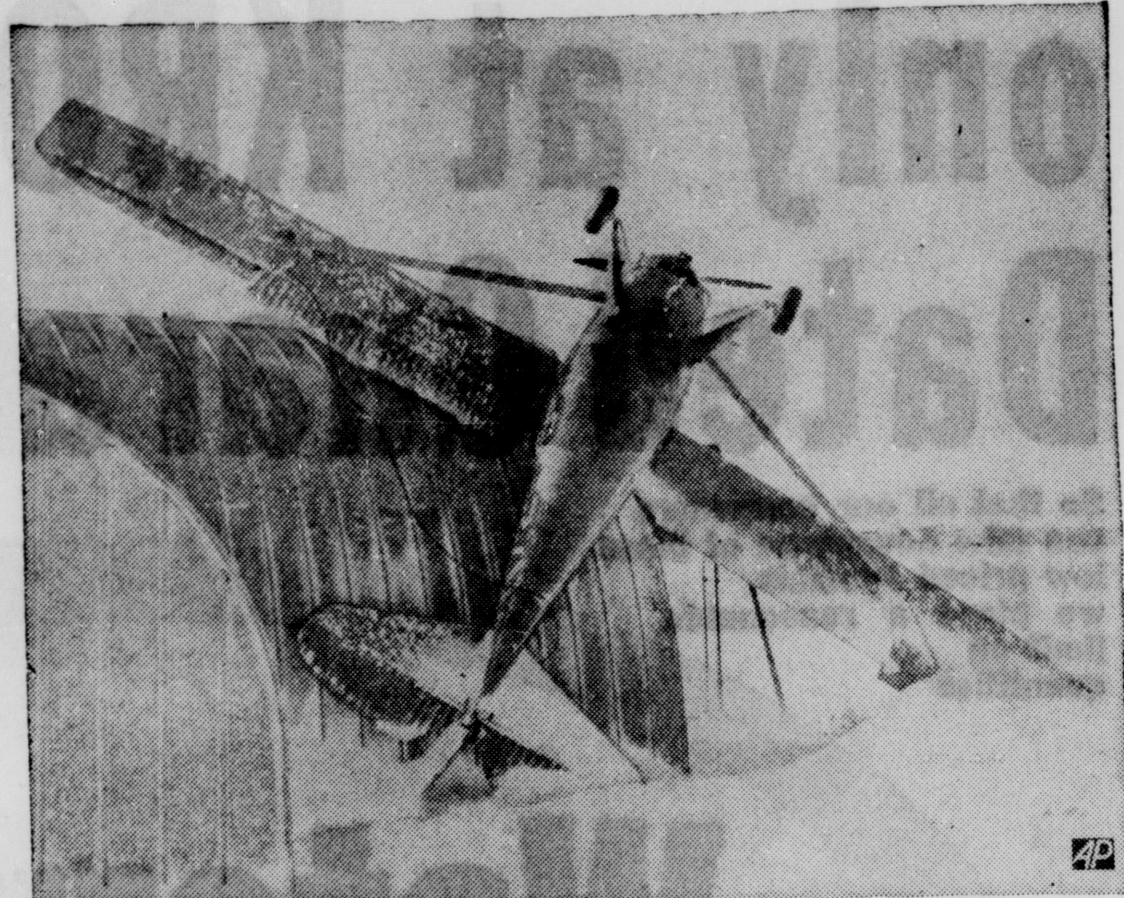

telling you, George, is that you are not going to get any more, now or later.

"According to the boss, young Abernathy looks like a real comer." So let's protect ourselves and gang up on him before the situation gets out of hand.

"Alice, your husband must be a real doll to surprise you on your anniversary with such a stunning mink stole." So the gossip must be true — the old fool is cheating on her.

"Those sunglasses make you look like a movie star, Rosemarie." But they don't hide those big dark bags under your eyes, baby. How late were you out last night?

"Since you took that health course, Ronald, you've looked like a million dollars." Now what are you going to do to improve that 10-cent mind?

POWER OF NATURE — A light single-engine airplane lies against a hangar at the Alexandria, Minn., airport after it was flipped like a toy by gale-force winds which lashed the area. The winds came with a Spring snowstorm which swept across the state.
